TANKER TAKING MOLASSES AWAY

Having brought oil here from California ports, the Associated Oil tanker J. A. Chasler, which has not been a visitor here for about two years, is taking molasses back to San Francisco.

The big tanker will steam probably tomorrow morning for Hilo. She has loaded 1500 tons of molasses here and will take on a good sized quantity at Hilo, besides loading several hundred empty oil barrels and drums at this port and the Crescent City.

Cargoes of molasses are carried regularly from the islands to San Francisco by the Associated's tankers Marion Chilcott and Falls of Clyde, but this is the first tank steamer used for molasses shipments in some time.

Lumber Schooners Arrive
This morning the schooners Robert J. Hind, from Port Gamble, with lumber, and Lily, from Grays Harbor, arrived with lumber, arrived off port. The Lily is 28 days out.

An indication of the quantity of rock dislodged may be had when it is known that the largest rock seen just to the right center of the picture weighs about 30 tons. Picture 3 shows a general view of the quarry from where the rock is to be taken. It is located seven miles from Kahului. About 85,000 tons of rock will be required for the breakwater, which when completed will give Kahului an almost perfect harbor.

HARBOR NOTES

The Wailale is reported today as loading sugar yesterday at Honokaa.

The ex-German freighter Elsass, from this port July 10, arrived at San Francisco Thursday, the Merchants' Exchange reports.

About a dozen Japanese who shipped here and helped take care of the ex-German steamer Staatssekretar Kraske up to the coast, were paid off here two days ago. They were brought back to Honolulu at the ship's board's expense, as the immigration authorities would not allow them to land at San Francisco.

Three Chinese firemen in whose sleeping quarters customs inspectors found 17 tins of opium Wednesday were arrested this morning when the Mauna Kea returned from Hilo. Deputy Collector Roger Taylor made the arrests, assisted by Inspectors Gilbert McNeill and J. Oliveira. The men were turned over to U. S. Attorney S. C. Huber.

The inter-island flag ship Mauna Kea arrived this morning from Hilo and way ports, with 141 cabin and 96 deck passengers. Her inward freight included two autos, two crates of pigs, 17 crates of chickens, 16 quarters of beef, 35 crates of fruit, 19 sacks of vegetables, 30 sacks of sugar, 120 of potatoes, 300 of sugar, and 487 parcels of sundries, according to Purser Strathairn's trip report.

HAWAII MAKES HIT WITH P. M.

Hawaii has a wonderful development ahead of her, and if Honolulu doesn't watch out Hilo may put one over on her, is Postmaster D. H. MacAdam's enthusiastic comment on the Big Island. He returned from there this morning on the Mauna Kea.

The postmaster has traveled around the Big Island in the last 10 days, following the postal route, observing geographical and characteristic conditions, to see for himself what Hawaii looks like. He reports the roads "pretty fair for a good auto, with the exception of a 10-mile stretch south from Waimea, which is apparently now being rebuilt."

MacAdam says the scenery is magnificent and that Hawaii's agricultural possibilities have not been anywhere near developed to their full capacity. He predicts a big growth for the island.
